Dear Mr. Rockley:

Thank you for your recent gift of $2,500 to Arkansas State University. As requested, this contribution has been directed to the Music Department.

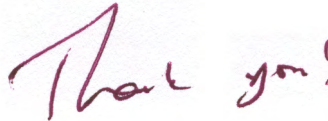

I also would like to welcome you to the Arch Society at the Torch Club level, one of our most distinguished donor recognition groups. This group consists of supporters who contribute an annual gift of $1,000 or more to ASU programs and scholarships.

We appreciate your role as an advocate, ambassador, and investor in our future. If you have any questions or I can help with anything, please don't hesitate to call.

Sincerely,

Kelly Damphousse
Chancellor

Dear Sir or Madam:

As the Fall 2017 term is coming to a close, we are busy preparing for Spring 2018. There is a great deal of excitement in the College of Liberal Arts and Communication. I would like to share a few reasons behind this excitement by highlighting some of our faculty and students' recent accomplishments.

- A new Communication Center has opened in the Learning Commons area of the library. The center provides communication and speech tutoring for any stage of a public speaking event -- from preparation to presentation.
- Dr. Rollin Tusalem, associate professor of political science, has been selected as the Polity Prize winner for 2017. The award is given by the Northeastern Political Science Association for the best research article published in their journal.
- Dr. Susan Whiteland, assistant professor of art education received the Arkansas Higher Education Art Educator of the Year award.
- For the first time, Arkansas State University had three students receive Fulbright Awards. We are proud to be able to say that all three are from this college!
- At an awards banquet on November 14, 2017, A-State students took home Diamond Journalism Awards from the Society of Professional Journalists. Awards included second place for Video Online Division, third place for Hard News Radio/Podcasts Division, first and third place for Feature Student Journalism Division and first through third places for News Student Journalism Division.

I want to take a moment to express our gratitude for your support for the Department of Music. Your gifts help to make the accomplishments like those mentioned above possible for our students. This allows our graduates to enter today's workforce as viable employees and sets the stage for further successes.

We look forward to the opportunities that the remainder of 2017 will bring!

Sincerely,

Dr. Carl M. Cates
Dean
