Dear Mr. Rockley,

On behalf of Capital University please accept our sincere gratitude for your gift of the rental, technical assistance, moving and setup of 16 instruments for the academic year. Your generosity allows Capital students to practice, learn, and perform using equipment of exceptional quality, enhancing their classroom experiences and stimulating their growth as musicians.

Should you desire to claim a deduction or credit on your federal or state income tax return for this charitable contribution, we recommend you consult your tax advisor concerning applicable laws and regulations.

Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated. Again, thank you.

Sincerely,

April R. Novotny

Dear Mr. Rockley:

Capital's diverse student community possesses impressive academic credentials, outstanding school involvement and commitment to community service. Regardless of whether they are freshmen, seniors, or third year law students, Capital students will be challenged by professors who are experts in their field. The combination of innovative research opportunities, service learning, internships, student teaching, clinical experiences and campus activities will create an engaged and well-rounded community of learners.

Please know that as a result of your recent gift to the fund listed below on this gift receipt, our students on the Bexley Campus and at the Law School are making the most out of their Cap experience and are off to make the world a better place.

Your commitment to Capital University and its proud tradition and heritage is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

April R. Novotny
