Dear Mr. Rockley,

Thank you for your generous pledge to the Arts and Humanities Program for the Center for Bioethics and Humanities Fund in support of the Music and Medicine Program. Your support makes possible the University of Colorado School of Medicine's important work of training the next generation of health care professionals, conducting research at the forefront of innovation, and delivering high-quality care rooted in the latest discoveries. We are establishing a world-class medical destination and with the help of philanthropic partners like you, we are well-positioned to realize our vision and make a meaningful impact in countless lives.

The work of our skilled physicians and researchers to improve and save lives has established CU Anschutz as a regional and national leader in medicine. CU School of Medicine faculty secure a significant proportion of the more than $420 million in grant funding awarded to researchers at CU Anschutz each year. This funding, paired with your generous philanthropic support, enables us to better understand obesity, develop novel cancer therapies, unlock the puzzle of Alzheimer's disease, improve cardiovascular health and much more.

Thank you for your thoughtful contribution and your commitment to our continued growth and success.

With warm regards,

John J. Reilly, Jr., MD
Richard D. Krugman Endowed Chair
Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs
Dean, School of Medicine

Dear Mr. Rockley:

Thank you for your generous pledge to the Arts and Humanities Program for the Center for Bioethics and Humanities Fund in support of the Music and Medicine Program at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus. I am thrilled to have you with us on our mission of becoming a world-class medical destination committed to rewriting the rules of health care.

Collaboration is happening in every corner of campus – in the laboratories, classrooms and clinics that you help support. Our leading scientists and clinicians are working together to transform the health care of tomorrow, and we are thankful to count you as a partner in progress.

The life-saving research initiatives and leading-edge education programs at CU Anschutz are fueled by your philanthropic leadership. I am deeply grateful for your continued generosity and hope you take pride in knowing that your support is helping the brightest minds in health care today solve some of the most pressing issues of our time.

Sincerely,

Donald M. Elliman, Jr.
Chancellor, University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus
