Dear Tobin,

On behalf of College of Fine Arts students, faculty, and staff, thank you for your generous gift-in-kind of $86,690 to Piano Texas 2023. Your support is key to the success of our innovative programs and to our students and faculty who are making a difference in fostering creativity and beauty through the arts.

The fine and performing arts have an influential impact on the TCU community by promoting social, educational, and economic growth, as well as furthering creativity, leadership, and opportunities for collaboration. As Dean of the College of Fine Arts, I value your contribution – your gift helps support our mission to prepare the next generation of creative leaders in the arts.

The College of Fine Arts is comprised of nationally ranked programs with 33 undergraduate degree-plan options and 24 advanced degrees within the Schools of Art, Music, Classical & Contemporary Dance, and the Departments of Theatre, Design, and Fashion Merchandising. Our reputation for producing talented artists stems from our long-standing commitment to providing high-quality arts education that includes applied entrepreneurial opportunities. These experiences equip our graduates with the skills they need not only for further training and careers but also for navigating the real world beyond the classroom.

I offer an open invitation for you to visit our College and tour our facilities, including the new Fine Arts Building (FAB) and TCU Music Center, home of the Van Cliburn Concert Hall. It would be my pleasure to thank you in person and introduce you to some of our extraordinary students and faculty. Should you like to schedule a tour or meeting, please contact Director of Development Angela Strittmatter at (817) 257-4397 or a.strittmatter@tcu.edu. Thank you for investing in our students.

Sincerely,
